SUBJECT: List of Guests for Scott McNealy dinner on September 27.

PAGES: 6

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Bill would like to send out the invitations this let them know that Bill intends to have this dinner (at your request) even if it might "compete" with the Museum's "Computer Bowl Fundraiser"??

Please advise.

Thanks. 😊

Mr. Scott G. McNealy

Dear Scott,

Thanks for accepting my invitation to speak at the Computer Museum on ~~September 27~~ ~~September 27~~. My goal is to interest local High Tech CEO's in contributing to the Museum, and your reputation and the success of Sun will be a big draw.

As you may know, there are two Sun 3/160's on display at the Smart Machines Exhibit in the Museum, which was formed several years ago to educate the general public about the history of computing, what computers can do today, and what the future might hold.

Some suggestions for your talk might include: future workstation architectures, UNIX, the difference between West Coast and East Coast computer companies, why Sun has been so successful... As September approaches, we will be in touch regarding media requirements and any other presentation requests you might have.

If you have time to play some golf when you're here, let me know and I'll get us onto a good course. Congratulations on the continued phenomenal success of Sun!

Sincerely,

Bill

Re: The Computer Museum

Dear Gardner:

Enclosed please find copies of:

- letters from attendees of the Computer Museum Fund Raiser on Sept. 27
- follow up letters
- lists of people who attended
- lists of people who were invited and declined

I think a follow up call to each individual would be appropriate, but would be most effective if we knew which ones were already members and whether they are active or not. Can you find out which ones are members, how much more $ you think we can squeeze out of the ones who are members and what specifically we should ask for out of those who are not members? I have taken the liberty of setting aside an hour for Bill to do his follow up work...

Best regards to you and your new assistant,

Dear Bill:

After a bit of inquiry, I've determined that while Bank of Boston is already a Corporate Member of the Computer Museum, we have not actively participated in its programs nor have many people truly been aware of our involvement. In fact, it was even suggested that we might consider dropping the membership in 1989.

We will definitely continue our membership and in addition, we will make a conscious effort to become much more familiar with the museum's offerings and will supplement the normal systems areas with High Tech and Venture Capital personnel for dissemination of program information, etc.

Hopefully, by the end of next year total awareness and involvement will have significantly increased.

Kindest personal regards,

Sincerely

Dear Bill:

You were thoughtful to invite Sue and me to the extremely enjoyable and informative evening Tuesday night. We were pleased to have our first opportunity to be at the Museum as well as listen to Scott's remarks, which I believe are right on the money.

Thanks for including us.

Sincerely

Dear Bill:

Thank you so much for hosting Grace and me at the Computer Museum. I really enjoyed hearing Scott McNealy talk. I have read so much about him; it was a real treat. I am glad we were included.

I did not mind the gentle kidding at the dinner, but would like equal time if I am some day chairman of an event at which you are a guest. Maybe we can keep the roast going.

I understand from Marian that your son will be reporting to Pensacola on January 9, after TBS. My son is hoping to start flight instructor duties in May of 1989, which would be about the time your son would actually climb into an airplane after completing his preflight at Pensacola. I will, obviously, tell Mark to be on the lookout for him.

Best regards,

Sincerely,

Dear Charles:

Thank you for joining me at the Computer Museum last Tuesday evening. I appreciate your interest in the museum and hope that you had a chance to enjoy some of the exhibits.

The Computer Museum is the world's first and only museum devoted solely to computers and computing. We feel that the Museum has done a great job of preserving the history of computing and serves as a valuable resource to industry and the public.

There are many ways to support the Museum: corporate sponsorship, individual membership, or donations of equipment for exhibits. Benefits to you depend on the amount given, but generally include: public recognition, free admission tickets, invitations to special events and lectures, use of the library, archives, auditorium, and eligibility to borrow parts of the collection. I do hope you will consider making a donation and I have enclosed a pledge card for your convenience.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Stata:

I am sorry that you were unable to attend Scott McNealy's presentation at the Computer Museum last Tuesday night. It was both entertaining and enlightening. However, I would still like to give you the opportunity to visit the museum and have enclosed some passes which Stratus receives as a corporate sponsor.

The Computer Museum is the world's first and only museum devoted solely to computers and computing. Visitors get in touch with the past, present and future of computers in a fun and educational way. Dear Bill:

After a bit of inquiry, I've determined that while Bank of Boston is already a Corporate Member of the Computer Museum, we have not actively participated in its programs nor have many people truly been aware of our involvement. In fact, it was even suggested that we might consider dropping the membership in 1989.

We will definitely continue our membership and in addition, we will make a conscious effort to become much more familiar with the museum's offerings and will supplement the normal systems areas with High Tech and Venture Capital personnel for dissemination of program information, etc.

Hopefully, by the end of next year total awareness and involvement will have significantly increased.

Kindest personal regards,

Sincerely

Executive Vice President

Dear Bill:

I am sorry that Janice and I were unable to hear Scott McNealy speak at the Computer Museum. I believe the Museum is a worthy endeavor and speaks well for the industry. I do get, as I am sure you do, many requests for donations. I am prepared to contribute 200 shares of Intermetrics stock to the Computer Museum. If you would have someone at the Museum contact Carol Doherty (661-1840) here at the Company, she will arrange the transfer.

Sincerely,

Dear Bill:

I enjoyed the evening at The Computer Museum; thank you for inviting us. Arthur Young would be pleased to become a corporate member of the museum. You will see from my letter to the Office of Development that we have applied for membership. I decided to add to that a contribution to the capital campaign.

It is easy to notice the great pride you have taken in the good work of this institution; we are pleased to join with you in that.

All the best!

Sincerely,

Thomas P. McDermott
