

The Computer
Museum

Watson Scientific Laboratory Organized by Thomas J. Watson, Sr. and Wallace Eckert, the Watson Scientific Laboratory from 1945 to 1950, made major contributions to computing - including the development of S.S.E.C. and NORC.

The Computer
Museum

The Sieve Process

D.H. Lehmer's electromechanical number sieve, designed in 1936 to solve complex problems in number theory. Part of an exhibition on "The History of the Sieve Process".